Life in Puglia follows the rhythm of the agriculture and this land is known also as the realm of extra-virgin olive oil. There are 60 million olive trees planted in the region, half of which are hundreds of years old and five million are over a thousand years old. They are real monuments alive and there is a rich cultural legacy centred around olive production. The oil, like wine, is nowadays experiencing a great success. For years it has been exported but underestimated in the region of its origin. Nevertheless, today its quality is improving being appreciated more and more and production methods have changed dramatically. Currently Puglia supplies around 45% of Italy's olive oil. In Puglia there are more or less 13 different listed varieties of olives - the so-called cultivar - and each private landowner strongly invested in the most high-tech equipment in the extraction of olive oil so to gain a niche in the market or premier olive oil. Spend some of your time during your vacation exploring these enchanting olive oil farms dotted all around Puglia countryside. From olive harvest to the production in the modern olive oil mill till the visit to the beautiful olive oil underground mill dates sometimes from 1700, you will enjoy always a special Olive oil tasting journey according to your time. It is necessary to book the experience at the reception.
